DIVISION 2

Coming into Force and Repeal of Enactments

Date of coming into force of Acts

2-3(1) An Act or portion of an Act comes into force on the date or in the manner specified in the Act.

(2) If no date or manner of coming into force is specified, the Act or portion of the Act comes into force on the date on which the Act receives Royal Assent.

(3) In this section, “Royal Assent”, for an Act reserved for the signification of the Governor General’s pleasure, means the date on which the Lieutenant Governor signifies by a message to the Legislative Assembly or by proclamation that the Governor General in Council has assented to the Act.

(b) the repeal of an enactment takes effect at the beginning of the day of the repeal.

2019, cL-10.2, s.2-5.

Exercise of delegated power before coming into force

2-6 A power in an enactment to enact a statutory instrument, or to do any other thing, may be exercised before the enactment comes into force but, except as is necessary to make the enactment effective when it comes into force, the statutory instrument enacted or other thing done has no effect until the enactment comes into force.

2019, cL-10.2, s.2-6.

Effect of repeal of enactment

2-7(1) The repeal of an enactment does not:

- (a) revive an enactment that is no longer in force, or a law that no longer exists, immediately before the time the repeal takes effect;
- (b) affect the previous operation of the repealed enactment;
- (c) affect a right, privilege, obligation or liability that came into existence pursuant to the repealed enactment and that exists immediately before the time the repeal takes effect;
- (d) affect a contravention of the repealed enactment or any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred in connection with the contravention; or
- (e) affect an investigation, proceeding or remedy respecting:
 - (i) a right, privilege, obligation or liability mentioned in clause (c); or

- (4) Procedures established by a new enactment must be followed, with any necessary modification, in relation to a matter that arose pursuant to the former enactment, including, without limitation:
- (a) procedures for the recovery or enforcement of penalties and forfeitures incurred under the former enactment;
 - (b) procedures for the enforcement of a right or privilege that exists when the new enactment comes into force; or
 - (c) proceedings relating to matters that arose pursuant to the former enactment that are commenced after the repeal of the former enactment.
- (5) If a penalty, forfeiture or punishment authorized pursuant to a former enactment is reduced or mitigated by the new enactment, the new enactment applies to any sanction imposed after the new enactment comes into force with respect to a matter that occurred pursuant to the former enactment.
- (6) A bond or security given by a person acting pursuant to the former enactment remains in force.
- (7) All offices, books, papers and things made or used pursuant to the former enactment may continue to be used as before the repeal as far as is consistent with the new enactment.

- (9) If a power to enact a statutory instrument was conferred on a person or body pursuant to a former enactment and the power, or substantially the same power, is conferred on another person or body by the new enactment, the other person or body may repeal, amend or replace the statutory instrument enacted pursuant to the former enactment by the first-mentioned person or body.
- (10) After an enactment is repealed and a new enactment is substituted for it, a reference in an unrepealed enactment to the former enactment is, with respect to any subsequent transaction, matter or thing, deemed to be a reference to the provisions of the new enactment relating to the same subject-matter as the former enactment, but, if there are no provisions in the new enactment relating to the same subject-matter, the former enactment is to be interpreted as being unrepealed insofar as is necessary to maintain or give effect to the unrepealed enactment.
