INFORMATION FOR HOLDERS OF FUEL TAX EXEMPTION PERMITS

This bulletin has been prepared to assist you in understanding your obligations and responsibilities as a Fuel Tax Exemption Permit holder. It is intended to serve as a general guide and is not a substitute for the legislation.

The changes to this bulletin are indicated by a (I) in the left margin.

The contents of this bulletin are presented under the following sections:

- A. General Information
- B. Information for Farmers
- C. Information for Primary Producers of Renewable Resources
- D. Information for Commercial Loggers
- E. Information for Heating Fuel Users

Appendix A: Definitions for Farm, Farmer, Farming Operations and Primary Farm Products

A. GENERAL INFORMATION

To obtain a Fuel Tax Exemption Permit, the person must apply using an approved application form. Applicants must provide prescribed or required information to demonstrate that they meet the definition of a farmer, a primary producer of renewable resources, a person carrying out an approved custom farming activity, or a purchaser of marked heating fuel.

The Ministry of Finance regularly monitors purchases of tax exempt and tax reduced fuel by permit holders. Permit holders may be contacted for additional information to ensure that the fuel obtained under their permit was used in allowable activities and their consumption was reasonable.

Permits are not transferable and can be cancelled or suspended in instances where the permit holder has: ceased farming, failed to renew their permit as required, failed to comply with the terms and conditions of the Act or the Regulations, provided false or misleading information, or carried on business in a manner that is contrary to the public interest.

Permit holders must ensure that the tax exempt or tax reduced fuel acquired under their permit number is used solely for authorized purposes.

Fuel Tax Exemption Permits are issued to farmers or primary producers and must be renewed annually by May 31st following the year in which they are issued.

Restricted Use (Temporary) Fuel Tax Exemption Permits (or “Custom Permits”) are issued to persons carrying out custom farming activities.

Heating Fuel Permits are issued to persons requiring the ability to pick up marked heating fuel from bulk dealers or cardlock or keylock facilities.

B. INFORMATION FOR FARMERS

Marked Diesel Fuel

Farmers may acquire marked diesel fuel for use in their unlicensed farm machinery or in their licensed farm vehicles (vehicles registered as "Class F"), when used in their farming operations as defined in Appendix A. Vans and SUV's cannot be registered as "Class F."

Unlicensed farm machinery means machinery or equipment that is not capable of being licensed under The Traffic Safety Act and is used in a farming operation (see Appendix A).

Farmers who occasionally use their licensed farm vehicles for non-farm business purposes may obtain a “temporary registration upgrade” trip permit from Saskatchewan Government Insurance by phoning 1-800-667-7575. This permit will include a charge for tax on the fuel consumed while the permit is in force, thereby eliminating the need for a farmer to empty their fuel tanks of marked diesel fuel. These permits must be obtained before conducting any non-farm business activity, and are only issued in conjunction with a registration upgrade (trip) permit.

Farmers may also use marked diesel fuel in snowplough equipment to clear snow, except where the snow removal is performed for a hamlet, village, town, city, commercial enterprise or for the Government of Saskatchewan or Government of Canada.

Marked diesel fuel is not intended for personal use such as travelling to and from school or a place of employment, or for recreational purposes.

Custom Farming

“Custom Farming” means the use of unlicensed farm machinery to carry out any of the activities listed under farming operations (see Appendix A), but does not include the on-road hauling or transportation of primary farm products for another farmer.

A Restricted Use (Temporary) Fuel Tax Exemption Permit is required to acquire marked diesel fuel for use in custom farming, and is only valid for a limited time period (specified in months) based on the nature and duration of the activities described on the applicant’s permit application form.

Restricted Use Permits (or Custom Permits) do not allow the permit holder to acquire tax reduced gasoline or other fuel products without paying the Fuel Tax.

Travel Outside Canada

When travelling in the United States (U.S.), the American federal and state governments may impose substantial fines for persons using marked fuel in the tanks of their licensed motor vehicles.

Farmers intending to travel to the U.S. should contact the applicable state(s) in advance for more information.

C. INFORMATION FOR PRIMARY PRODUCERS OF RENEWABLE RESOURCES

“Primary Producers of Renewable Resources” include commercial fishers, commercial loggers and commercial trappers.

- A commercial fisher is a person who holds a licence issued pursuant to The Fisheries Regulations, and primarily engages in commercial fishing.
- A commercial logger is a person whose business involves the harvesting and marking of trees, the construction of logging roads, the salvaging of logs or reforestation.
- A commercial trapper is a person who engages in fur trapping and holds a Fur Conservation Area Fur Licence or a Southern Saskatchewan Fur Licence issued pursuant to The Wildlife Regulations, 1991.

Primary producers may not use fuel obtained with their permit in any production or processing activity, including production and processing activities applied to raw timber.

Primary producers with a valid permit may purchase marked diesel fuel or tax exempt propane for use in their business, for prescribed (authorized) activities directly related to their business, that are carried out using unlicensed machinery or equipment (equipment or machinery that is not registered pursuant to The Traffic Safety Act, and is not ordinarily operated on a public highway as defined in The Highways and Transportation Act).

D. INFORMATION FOR COMMERCIAL LOGGERS

Eligible Uses of Marked Diesel Fuel

Commercial loggers with valid Fuel Tax Exemption Permits may purchase marked diesel fuel for use in their unlicensed equipment or machinery, in direct logging activities.

Direct logging activities include:

- seeding, planting and nursery operations;
- harvesting and marking of trees;
- construction of logging roads (but not maintenance of roads);
- reforestation and silviculture; and
- chipping, mulching, de-limbing, and cutting to length when performed before delivery to a fixed or portable mill site (i.e. when performed “in bush”). The term “in bush” includes temporary storage areas located between an area of harvest and the nearest public road. Loading, unloading and other logging activities performed at these sites are eligible for the use of marked diesel fuel.

Direct logging activities do not include:

- any activities performed at a portable or a fixed mill site.

Equipment or Machinery

For the purpose of carrying out any of the direct logging activities listed above, unlicensed equipment or machinery means:

- fellers;
- harvesters;
- bobcats;
- feller-bunchers;
- forwarders;
- limbers;
- slashers;
- power saws;
- loaders;
- dozers;
- crawlers;
- refrigeration units; or
- thinning and weeding tools.

Ineligible Uses of Marked Diesel Fuel

Marked diesel fuel cannot be used for the following:

- in stationary internal combustion engines;
- activities performed at a portable or fixed sawmill site;
- to operate licensed vehicles, including trucks used for hauling logs from storage areas to mill sites;
- in equipment for maintaining logging roads and constructing roads intended for general vehicle traffic; and
- in equipment used in construction or excavation work not related to logging.

Special Situations

A farmer or primary producer may qualify to use marked diesel fuel in unlicensed equipment for a logging activity that does not qualify as direct logging if the following conditions are met:

- the equipment must be routinely used as unlicensed farm equipment, or for direct (eligible) logging activities;
- the non-qualifying activity must be performed on the farmer's own land; and
- the equipment is moved only from an eligible activity to a non-qualifying activity at the same location.

In these instances, the farmer must file an annual report indicating the amount of marked diesel fuel used in the non-qualifying activity, and pay the tax owing on that fuel by January 20th of each year. The operator will not be required to drain the fuel tank of such equipment when moving to the taxable activity. However, when the equipment is being used in a non-qualifying activity for an extended period of time, it must be refuelled with clear (tax paid) diesel fuel.

E. INFORMATION FOR HEATING FUEL USERS

Heating

“Heating” means using fuel in a device that contains a burner to produce an open flame, but does not include using fuel:

- to power an internal combustion engine or turbine engine;
- as a means of propulsion;
- for regulating temperature in a trailer or container used for the private or commercial transportation of goods;
- to produce electricity or to power a compressor or pump; or
- for fabrication processes such as cutting or welding.

Permits for Marked Heating Fuel

Marked diesel fuel sold for heating use must be identified as heating fuel or fuel oil at the time of sale.

Persons wishing to pick up heating fuel at a bulk fuel dealer or a cardlock/keylock storage facility must have a valid Fuel Tax Exemption Permit for Marked Heating Fuel. These permits allow the acquisition of marked heating fuel for heating, but do not allow the permit holder to purchase other tax reduced or tax exempt fuel products.

Heating fuel can only be purchased without an exemption permit when delivered (by a bulk dealer) into a tank that is used exclusively for heating fuel storage.

Propane Purchased for Heating

Where individuals purchase propane through a metering facility normally used to dispense propane for automotive purposes, the propane is taxable regardless of the use.

(See Information Bulletin FT-8 for more information on taxable and exempt uses of propane.)
