Section 3: Eligible Project

An eligible project is defined in The Oil Infrastructure Investment Program Regulations as: an oil or carbon dioxide pipeline project that directly increases pipeline capacity in Saskatchewan and is not considered redundant or operational. This definition applies to pipeline systems that move oil, refined petroleum products, natural gas liquids or carbon dioxide from and between batteries, facilities and storage to and through long-haul transmission lines, and directly linked enabling infrastructure required to bring the project into service. Further information and examples of eligible projects can be found in the OIIP Policy Guidelines.

Name of proposed eligible project: _____

Location/route of the proposed eligible project:

This application is being submitted for (if applicable, select more than one):

New infrastructure (greenfield)

An expansion to existing development/infrastructure (brownfield)

The application is being submitted for (if applicable, select more than one):

An oil pipeline

A refined petroleum products pipeline

A natural gas liquids pipeline

A carbon dioxide pipeline

Greenfield Projects (if applicable):

1a. In the case of new infrastructure (greenfield transmission/feeder pipeline systems and/or terminals), provide a detailed description of the proposed eligible project and the resulting increase in pipeline capacity. This detailed description should include the proposed project's operational design and plan, and clearly identify how the proposed project satisfies to the program's eligibility requirements.

This should include:

- Feedstock types and volumes
- Design volumes (including length, diameter, etc.);
- Expected utilization volumes;
- Process diagrams/block flow diagrams/schematics; and/or
- Maps.

1b. Provide a detailed description regarding any enabling infrastructure that will be required in order to support the proposed project's construction and operations. Clearly describe how the enabling infrastructure is related to the proposed eligible project.

This should include:

- Infrastructure types and sizes;
- Design capacity and expected utilization;
- Process diagrams/block flow diagrams/schematics; and/or
- Maps.

Brownfield Projects (if applicable):

2a. In the case of an expansion to existing infrastructure (brownfield transmission/feeder pipeline systems and/or terminals), provide a detailed description of the proposed eligible project and the resulting increase in pipeline capacity. This detailed description should include the proposed project's operational design and plan, and clearly identify how the proposed project satisfies to the program's eligibility requirements.

This should include:

- Pipeline capacity before and after the project;
- How the proposed expansion increases the pipeline capacity;
- Design capacity and expected utilization before and after the project;
- Process diagrams/block flow diagrams/schematics; and/or
- Maps.

2b. Provide a detailed description regarding any enabling infrastructure that will be required in order to support the proposed project's construction and operations. Clearly describe how the enabling infrastructure relates to the proposed eligible project.

This should include:

- Infrastructure types and sizes;
- Design capacity and expected utilization;
- Process diagrams/block flow diagrams/schematics; and/or
- Maps.

Section 4: Planned Eligible Costs

Eligible costs are those that are defined in the OIIP Policy Guidelines. In order to meet the eligibility requirements for this program, a company must have a minimum of CAD$10 million in eligible costs.

1. Provide a detailed description and itemized breakdown for the proposed project's planned expenditures and the total estimated dollar amount of each eligible cost that may be claimed. Documents may be attached to supplement this description (i.e., financial modelling, budget calculations, project schedule, etc.). Please include both eligible and ineligible expenditure categories outlined in Section 6 of the OIIP Policy Guidelines.

Section 5: Estimated Project Start & Completion Dates

Estimated project construction start date (MM/DD/YY): _____

Estimated project operational start date (MM/DD/YY): _____
