In the interest of public safety, Saskatchewan RCMP advises the residents of Mont Nebo, Leask, Mistawasis First Nation, Shellbrook, Prince Albert and surrounding communities that an offender considered to be at high risk of reoffending sexually and/or violently has been released from prison, on the morning of August 2, 2022, after having served the entirety of his sentence.

THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION IS INTENDED TO ENABLE MEMBERS OF THE PUBLIC TO TAKE SUITABLE PREVENTATIVE MEASURES, NOT TO EMBARK UPON ANY FORM OF VIGILANTISM OR OTHER UNREASONABLE CONDUCT DIRECTED AT THIS INDIVIDUAL.

Roland Clifford Morissette has shared with Saskatchewan RCMP his intentions to reside at Mont Nebo and to visit occasionally the areas of Leask, Mistawasis First Nation, Shellbrook and Prince Albert. He is described as a 54-year-old Indigenous male of slim build, (5'10", 140 lbs), with brown eyes and short black hair. He has a tattoo of a buffalo skull on his upper left arm and a large 5-inch vertical scar on his abdomen. He has smaller visible scars on his left cheek, left wrist, chest and chin.

Roland Clifford Morissette has a criminal record that contains both violent and sexual offences connected to substance use and a history of reoffending and non-compliance with release conditions.

During his periods of incarceration, Mr. Morissette completed several educational programs for sex offenders, substance abuse, anger management and living skills.

Roland Clifford Morissette's criminal history and limited progress during these educational programs has led Saskatchewan RCMP to believe he is at a high risk of reoffending sexually and/or violently after his lawful release.
