

SINP Job Offer Categories: Nomination Caps for Sectors and Occupations

No more than 25% of SINP's annual nominations will be allocated to employers and workers in specific sector-occupation combinations.

Saskatchewan remains committed to welcoming newcomers who contribute to our provincial economy and communities. In response to federal immigration changes and a federal reduction to the SINP, we have developed a targeted nomination framework that balances the needs of diverse industries while aligning with new national requirements.

This approach reflects Saskatchewan's labour market priorities and ensures that no single sector dominates our immigration pathways. By implementing caps on specific occupation-industry combinations, we are fostering a more diverse and resilient immigration system that supports long-term economic growth across all regions.

Once these caps are reached, employers will be able to continue to submit Job Approval Forms (JAF) under the combination sectors and occupations. However, these JAFs will not be processed unless additional positions are required to be approved to meet the annual nomination allocation.
