SCHEDULE

Interpretation of Constituency Boundaries

Boundaries of constituencies

1 In the following descriptions, where “meridians” and “boundaries of townships” or “boundaries of sections” are referred to as the boundaries of constituencies, these expressions mean the meridians, boundaries of townships or boundaries of sections, as the case may be, in accordance with the dominion land survey system and include the extensions of the meridians, boundaries of townships or boundaries of sections in accordance with that system.

Dividing line

2 Where a dividing line between two ranges is mentioned as the boundary of a constituency, the expression means the surveyed line on the east boundary of the west range and the extension of that line southerly to intersect the north boundary of each township that lies to the south of a correction line and thence easterly along the north boundary of that township to the east boundary of that township.

North boundary

3 Where the north boundary of a township is mentioned as the boundary of a constituency and a jog exists between the north boundaries of a township on either side of a dividing line, the expression means that the boundary of the constituency follows along the portion of the dividing line that extends between the respective north boundaries of the township.

Section boundaries

4 Where boundaries of sections are mentioned as the boundary of a constituency and a correction line or jog exists between two section boundaries described, the expression means that the boundary of the constituency follows along the portion of the north boundary of a township or dividing line that extends between the respective section boundaries described.

5 Where the left bank of any river or creek is mentioned as the boundary of a constituency, the expression means the bank of that river or creek on the left side of a person going in the direction in which the water flows.

References as defined in *The Land Surveys Act, 2000

6 Where reference is made to “meridian”, “township” or “range” in the following descriptions, and the meridian, township or range lies outside the portion of Saskatchewan that is subdivided in accordance with The Land Surveys Act, 2000 and the regulations made pursuant to that Act, the reference is taken to be in accordance with the projection of the meridian, township or range as defined in The Land Surveys Act, 2000 and in the regulations made pursuant to that Act”.

(2) Subject to the regulations, the amended provision mentioned in subsection (1) applies to any matter regulated by this Act that concerns an area of Saskatchewan that the Lieutenant Governor in Council has designated pursuant to section 87 as an area to which this Act applies.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act but subject to the regulations, the former provision of The Representation Act, 1994 continues to apply to areas of Saskatchewan with respect to which the Lieutenant Governor in Council has not issued an order pursuant to section 87 until the former provision is subsequently amended, repealed or replaced.

2000, c.L-4.1, s.94.

Inclusion of hamlet, village or town cut by constituency boundary

7 When a constituency boundary cuts through a hamlet, village or town, and that hamlet, village or town has not been specifically mentioned in the constituency description, the boundary is to include the area of lesser population as lying within the constituency in which the part with the greater population lies.

References to limits of village, town or city

8 Where reference in descriptions of boundaries is made to limits or incorporated limits of any village, town or city, the reference means those limits defined as of July 1, 1993.
